MEDICATION & PRESCRIPTIONS

Bush House Vets will endeavour to provide veterinary services in accordance with reasonable standards as specified in the RCVS Code of Professional Conduct for Veterinary Surgeons and Veterinary Nurses. Information about this code is available at: www.rcvs.org.uk

To comply with Veterinary Medicines Regulations and to work within guidelines given by the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, we are only able to prescribe medicines classified as ‘Prescription Only Veterinary Medicines’ to animals ‘under our care’. Animals cannot be ‘under our care’ unless a physical examination has taken place. Consequently, veterinary surgeons are not able to prescribe any prescription only medications for animals if they have only conducted a consultation over the phone or via an app or website.

For patients suffering from long-term health problems that require ongoing medication, it is possible to supply repeat prescriptions without the animal having to be seen every time. Such animals will require regular repeat examinations, to ensure that the animal is suffering no ill effects from the medications that have been prescribed and to monitor improvement or deterioration in any clinical condition. In addition, they allow the veterinary surgeon to check for the development of any new condition that might affect the continued use of medications previously advised. Re-check consultations of this type will generally be required every 6 months, although this usually applies to those animals that are stable on their medication; in the early stages of the treatment of a disease, or in the case of particularly severe conditions it may be necessary to re-examine the animal at shorter time intervals and the veterinary surgeons will use their professional judgement of the animals' clinical condition to determine the appropriate re-examination period. The veterinary surgeons will always be happy to explain their decision regarding the necessity for repeat examinations and to quote for both these and the medications likely to be required on an ongoing basis.

Requests for repeat prescriptions for ongoing medication must be authorised by a veterinary surgeon and to allow the veterinary surgeon sufficient time to check patient records Bush House Vets requests that pet owners give 48 hours' notice for this.

Bush House Vets uses prescription only medicines to provide its patients with preventative healthcare to control internal and external parasites (such as worms and fleas / ticks etc). The prescription only products treat a broader range of parasites more quickly, safely and effectively than non-prescription products. These preventative healthcare medicines can be prescribed to healthy animals if they have had a consultation with a veterinary surgeon within the last 12 months.

We are happy to both prescribe and dispense medications for our patients, or to provide written prescriptions in order that owners can purchase the medications elsewhere. There is a charge for the provision of a prescription reflecting the time taken to consider the correct drug to use, the dose required, any possible adverse reactions or interactions between medications prescribed etc. Written prescriptions are valid for use in the UK only and for a maximum period of 6 months. We are not legally allowed to prescribe or dispense, on any one occasion, more medication than would be needed, either for the condition to be expected to have resolved, or before the time of the animal's next routine check-up and in the case of certain drugs, from what are termed the 'controlled' legal categories, the total amount we are able to prescribe may be small in consideration of the safety of customers having such drugs in large quantities in their homes. Additionally, whilst it may be possible to allow 'repeat dispenses' of some drugs on one prescription, this is strictly forbidden for any 'controlled' drugs and such prescriptions will therefore, always be for a single use only.

Due to legislation surrounding veterinary medicines, we are not allowed to prescribe or dispense products intended for use in humans if such a product exists in a veterinary formulation; therefore, any prescriptions provided will be for named veterinary preparations only. Should it be necessary to advise the use of a non-licensed product we will explain the reasons for this choice and may request that a disclaimer is signed by the owner of the animal.

A consultation fee is charged to cover the time taken to examine an animal, make a diagnosis and provide relevant treatment. This charge will be made even if no treatment is required. Reduced price consulting fees are charged for repeat examinations for an animal presenting with the same condition or a linked condition within a short time span (3 months). The standard consulting charges apply for a 15-minute examination should a case prove to be more complex and require additional time a surcharge may be made. Consultation charges generally apply on a per animal basis, however, depending on time taken this may be varied at the veterinary surgeon's discretion. Please note, all invoices are subject to VAT at the prevailing rate

Treatment plans for your pet will be made in discussion with you. The veterinary surgeons will always explain any options for different types of care which may be appropriate on an individual patient basis. Estimates for likely costs of such treatment will be provided (these are valid for 30 days since changes to the animal's condition over time may affect the treatment plan and / or changes in costs for medications and / or equipment necessary to provide the treatment may affect overall charges). Please note that medical care involves significant uncertainty, and it is possible that initially planned treatment may have to change, and unforeseen costs may occur. The team at Bush House Vets will endeavour to contact you to warn you of any additional costs and seek your consent before they are incurred, however, there may be instances when acting in the interest of the animal, that treatment be given before such consent can be obtained. Should that happen, you will be contacted as soon as is practicably possible and a full explanation provided.

The team at Bush House Vets will care for your pet to the best of their ability and within their level of experience. There may be times when, in the interest of your pet, advice may be sought from specialist colleagues. This may be by phone (when the vet in charge of your pet's case will discuss it with a specialist), or it may be that it is considered that your pet's care would best be provided by a specialist. If that is the case, this will be discussed with you, the options and likely costs explained and provided you agree to the referral, the team at Bush House Vets will help to make the necessary arrangements to facilitate this.

If, at any stage, you should have queries about your pet's care, in the first instance please discuss these with the veterinary surgeon in charge of the case. If you have any concerns and would like a 2nd opinion from another veterinary surgeon at Bush House Veterinary Group, you are welcome to request to arrange an appointment. If you would like to seek a 2nd opinion elsewhere (or to request that your pet is referred), again, please either discuss this with the vet in charge of your pet's case, or with another vet surgeon at the practice who will be happy to assist you.

PAYMENT

Bush House Vets respectfully requests that the costs for all services and treatments are made in full, at the time that those services or treatments are provided.

Payment would be preferred by credit /debit card, we no longer accept cheques. Alternatively, we are happy for payment to be made by bank transfer, and the practice bank details can be provided for those preferring to settle their fees in this way. Detailed, itemised invoices can be provided for all services performed and medication given. It would be greatly appreciated if any concerns about payment were raised before treatment has begun and discussed with the veterinary surgeon in charge in order that possible embarrassment at the reception desk can be avoided. We do not offer payment plans for treatment since payment is expected at the time that treatment is provided. Instalments or part-payments can only be sanctioned by the Practice Manager in exceptional circumstances. Please do not expect any other members of the team to be able to make such decisions without referring to the Practice Manager.

Any accounts for treatment or services provided including the pet health plan which have not been settled within 14 days, will receive a reminder. Should an account remain outstanding for 30 days, the practice reserves the right to de-register the pet and to pursue debt collector action. Any additional fees incurred because of such action will be added to the outstanding balance. Any cheque returned by your bank as unpaid or credit card payment not honoured and any cash found to be counterfeit, will result in the account balance being restored to the original fee with further charges associated with bank charges and administrative fees being added.

INSURANCE

The practice advocates the use of health insurance for pets, and we have a range of leaflets and information available at the practice, although we are not allowed to discuss details of individual policies available. The charges levied for insured pets are no different from those that are uninsured. As a rule, we would request that any costs incurred are settled with the practice by a pet's owner and then claimed back from the insurance company although in circumstances where the likely costs are over £500 it may be possible to arrange for the practice to claim the fees from the insurance company directly. We would request that clients wishing to make a 'direct claim' check with the veterinary surgeon treating their pet or the management team, to arrange this, ideally before agreeing to any course of treatment. There is an admin fee for processing insurance claims and subsequent insurance queries.

COMPLAINTS PROCESS

- The last thing we wish to do at Bush House Vets is to cause you or your pets any undue distress. Should this happen, we would like to reassure you that any upset or distress is not intentional.
- However, if you feel that the standards of care, service and value for money you have received in the care of your pet are not satisfactory then please contact the Practice Manager via email at info@bushhousevetgroup.co.uk
- The practice will endeavour to resolve your complaint in line with the practice Complaints Process

Bush House Vets will always seek to build positive, respectful relationships with its clients. However, this is only possible where our clients show the team a similar level of respect. Just as our clients are entitled to expect appropriate standards of care, service and value for money from the practice, so the team at Bush House Vets are entitled to expect appropriate standards of conduct and behaviour whilst serving our patients and clients. We consider that appropriate standards of conduct and behaviour means that clients are not entitled to speak to or treat the team in a manner that would be considered inappropriate were we to do the same to them. This includes swearing, aggressive, abusive or intimidating behaviour and / or defamation on social media without drawing the attention of the practice to a concern. Should such instances occur, Bush House Vets reserves the right to de-register the client and their pets.

We look forward to a long and healthy association with you and your pets.

12. Refunds: No refund of fees will be allowed except in the case of administrative error or death of Your Pet or You. If Your Monthly Subscription Fee is refunded, in full or in part, by Merlin, Your Monthly Subscription Fee will be treated as unpaid and section 10 above may apply.

The variation may be actioned by Your Veterinary Practice or by Merlin on Your Veterinary Practice's behalf. Details of the variation will be sent to Your last known postal or email address. If you are cancelling because of variations to the terms and conditions, You will not be required to pay more than one final Monthly Subscription Fee. The Contract is not with Merlin and Merlin accepts no liability to You whether in respect of contract, negligence, defective or unsatisfactory treatment in connection with any service it administers on behalf of Your Veterinary Practice.
